

URGENT NOTICE

DURBAN MIGHT SOON BE DRINKING TOILET WATER

With only 50 submissions received by the eThekweni Municipality on the city's plan to purify and recycle sewage water into drinking tap water and a petition intended to halt the city's plan struggling to garner many signatures, the city is likely to implement its proposed plan in 2015.

EThekweni plans to become the first city in the country to purify and recycle sewage into quality tap water. Daily News, April 10

Should this project come to fruition as planned it will be a catastrophe for the Durban Muslim community.

Sewage water even if recycled a thousand times over, will remain unacceptable for consumption.

Join the Jamiat as it appeals against this project. You are urged to voice your rejection of this plan by sending an email to mndlovu@golder.co.za and filling in the petition against this project.
