

Mother's Day!!!

Why Mother's Day? To celebrate, cherish and honour our mothers and their innumerable favours on us. With our busy lives and 'bursting to the seams' schedules we just don't have the time to spend with her, so lets make her day at least once a year.

Yet in Islam, even the concept of a Mother's day does not exist. Why?

In a truly Islamic environment, the need for a Mother's day simply does not arise. In front of the man whose life revolves around the Qur'aan and Sunnah, is the verse,

And your Rabb has legislated, that you worship none besides Him and that you be dutiful to your parents.

(Surah 17, Verse 23)

And the Hadith,

Paradise lies beneath the feet of mothers.

(KANZUL UMMAAL)

For a true believer, this is sufficient for him to realise the position of his mother in his life. Islam does not teach, taking out time for your mother once in a year.

Rather, Islam advocates 'being there' for your mother every day of your life.
